Professor of English Awarded Pushcart Prize

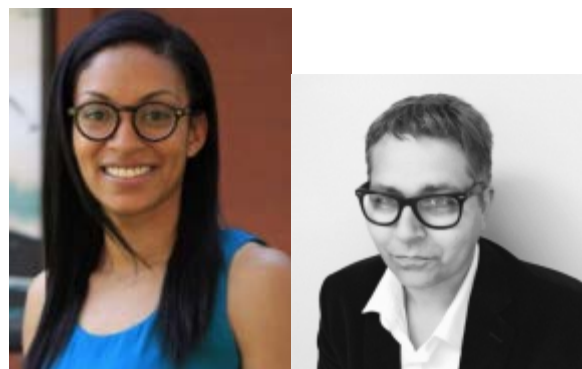

A poem by Nick Norwood, Columbus State University professor of English and director of CSU's

Carson McCullers Center for Writers and Musicians, has been awarded a Pushcart Prize, a nonprofit award series that recognizes the best in small press stories, poems and essays.

Norwood's poem "Latchkey" will be published in the 42nd anniversary edition of the Pushcart Prize Anthology this November. "Latchkey" was originally published in the Fall 2016 issue of The Greensboro Review.

Columbus State Welcomes 31 New Faculty for 2017-18 Academic Year

Columbus State University starts the fall semester with 31 new full-time faculty members, filling academic needs in all four colleges. Their expertise ranges from graphic design to applied statistical analysis.

Interim Provost Tina Butcher said she was very impressed with the background and qualifications of these new instructors and researchers. "This group is an impressive mix of professionals on the cutting edge in their field, to experienced teachers who will bring a great deal of talent to our students."

The new English faculty for this year are:

Rebecca Gerdes-McClain

Clayton O'Dell

Natalia Temesgen
Scott Wilkerson

We look forward to getting to know them better as the year (and years) progress.
